	Title: Reporting to Regulatory Agencies & Sponsors Regarding Human Subjects Research	Effective Date: 6/10/2010 Revision Date: 5/2/2016

I. PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy is to establish guidelines to ensure that the Hospital meets its reporting obligations by identifying the events that require reporting and the responsibility for reporting them.

II. POLICY STATEMENT

It is the policy of The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia Research Institute that on behalf of the Hospital, the Institutional Official will ensure that full, accurate, and timely reports are submitted to the appropriate regulatory and funding agencies when required for unanticipated problems involving risks to subjects and others, serious or continuing noncompliance, suspensions of previously-approved research, and terminations of previously-approved research.

III. SCOPE

This policy applies to all members of the research staff, non-traditional research personnel, members of the medical staff, employees of the Hospital, IRB members and any entity that is controlled by or under common control with the Hospital.

IV. DEFINITIONS

Continuing Noncompliance: means a pattern of noncompliance that indicates a lack of understanding about the regulations or ethical requirements that may affect the rights and welfare of participants. The pattern of noncompliance is assessed by the number of incidents occurring during the course of a protocol, or across multiple protocols conducted at CHOP, and whether the same noncompliant action was repeated or many different noncompliant events occurred especially after education or training has been provided to the researcher or research staff.

Institutional Official: is the individual identified on the Federalwide Assurance with Office for Human Research Protections (OHRP) as the authorized leader of the Hospital's human subjects protection program.

Noncompliance: is defined as a violation of any federal, state, or local regulation that governs human research; any hospital policy on human research; any deviation from the protocol approved by the IRB or stipulations imposed by the IRB as a condition of approval.

Serious Noncompliance: is noncompliance that may affect subject safety; increase risks to subjects; affect the integrity of the data; violate the rights and welfare of subjects; or affect the subject's willingness to participate in research.

	Title: Reporting to Regulatory Agencies & Sponsors Regarding Human Subjects Research	Effective Date: 6/10/2010 Revision Date: 5/2/2016

Suspension of Previously-Approved Research: is an action taken by the IRB (or the CPHS Chair in the cases of an initial review of noncompliance) for any reason to temporarily or permanently withdraw approval for some or all research activities short of permanently withdrawing approval for all research activities.

Termination of Previously-Approved Research: is an action taken by the IRB (or the CPHS Chair in the cases of an initial review of noncompliance) for any reason to permanently withdraw approval for all research activities, except for those follow up procedures which are necessary to protect the health or welfare of the subjects.

Unanticipated Problems Involving Risks to Subjects and Others: means any incident, experience, or outcome that meets all of the following criteria:

- unexpected (in terms of nature, severity, or frequency) given (a) the research procedures that are described in the protocol-related documents, such as the IRB approved research protocol and informed consent document; and (b) the characteristics of the subject population being studied;
- related or possibly related to a subject's participation in the research; and
- suggests that the research places subjects or others at a greater risk of harm (including physical, psychological, economic, or social harm) related to the research than was previously known or recognized.

V. PRINCIPLE

Federal regulations 45 CFR 46.103(a) and (b)(5) and (b)(5) and 21 CFR 56.108(b) require that institutions have written procedures for ensuring prompt reporting to the IRB, appropriate institutional officials, and the department or agency head of any unanticipated problems involving risks to subjects or others or any serious or continuing noncompliance with federal regulations or the requirements or determinations of the IRB; and any suspension or termination of IRB approval.
